Mother, 4 Children Die In Farm Blast

Tragedy Blamed On Kerosene; Father's Efforts To Rescue Family All In Vain

ATLANTA, Neb.—(Lincoln Star Special)—Five members of an Atlanta farm family lost their lives Tuesday in a kerosene explosion and fire.

The victims were Mrs. Walter Leach, about 40, and her children, Linda, 6, Steven, 5, Stanley, 2, and Gale Ann, 3.

The tragedy occurred at the Leach farm home, three miles west of Atlanta, as Mrs. Leach was preparing breakfast. Phelps County Attorney Richard Person, after inspecting the scene, said Mrs. Leach apparently was either kindling or priming a fire in her coal cookstove when the explosion took place. He found a two-gallon kerosene can exploded, but he was not able to determine if the explosion came while the kerosene was being poured or whether the kerosene in the can was ignited, possibly by a spark from the stove.

'Terribly Burned'
Linda, Steven and Stanley were playing on an overstuffed chair on the enclosed porch adjoining the kitchen and died instantly. "They were terribly burned," the county attorney said.

Mrs. Leach and Gale Ann were in the kitchen, and although rescued through a window they died several hours later in a Holdrege hospital. Walter Leach, the husband and father, was near collapse after his entire family had perished. He was out feeding the livestock when he heard the blast and saw the flash of fire. Although he rushed to the house and attempted to rescue the children from the porch his efforts were in vain.

Neighbor Heard Blast
John Schmalen, a neighbor, also heard the blast and then heard Leach call for help. The neighbor rescued Mrs. Leach and Gale Ann by pulling them through a knocked out kitchen window. He immediately took them to a Holdrege hospital.

Person described the blaze following the explosion as a "flash fire" that burned off some wall paper, scorched woodwork and allowed smoke through the kitchen and porch but left the remainder of the house untouched. The fire damage was not extensive.

"There will be no inquest, Person declared.

On Some Days You Can't Make A Nickle

Two accidents within fifteen minutes—that was the plight of a Lincoln woman Tuesday evening, according to police.

She returned to her car, which was parked on Eleventh between N and O to find that another auto had dented left front fender while leaving its parking place, Motorcycle Officer Don Post said.

The woman proceeded to back out of her parking stall, and—crunch! She in turn dented the car parked on her right, said Post.

The Crew Was Like A Family:

Local Sailor Misses Tragic Cruise

Gilbert L. Hudson, 24, a sailor on leave in Lincoln, reflected little Tuesday over the fact that he could have been one of the nine men killed when the destroyer Ernest G. Small ran over a probable enemy mine in Korean waters Sunday.

Hudson was under treatment in the San Diego naval hospital when the destroyer sailed Aug. 27 for duty in the Korean conflict. He cried when the names of nine of his buddies—all killed in the blast—were read to him from The Star newsroom.

The Star was contacted "to find out if any of the nine men (reported killed in the blast) were members of a 13-man forward gun turret crew."

Like Family
Hudson said members of the Small's crew "are like my own family—especially the guys in the forward turret, where I would ordinarily be."

The Star reporter picked up the casualty list, which contained no names of Nebraskans, and read it slowly to Hudson.

When the first name was read—that of Joseph F. Munier, son of Mr. Joseph Munier, sr., Highland, Ind.—Hudson said "Not him!" The young sailor sobbed as the reporter continued reading.

When the list of the nine dead sailors was read Hudson interrupted "That's all of 'em. They're all in my crew." He related that the mine must have struck the bow of the ship directly under the forward turret.

Severe Shock
One name in the wounded list—that of Robert Henry Morrison, son of Mrs. Irene Smith, Masonville, Colo.—shocked Hudson severely. The Lincoln sailor wanted to know more about Morrison. "Where was he hit? How bad is he? Where is he now?" They were all questions the press dispatch didn't answer.

Hudson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford C. Hudson, 4230 Y street, has been home on leave from the San Diego hospital for about three weeks.

Bowles OKed For India Post Over Protests

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The senate Tuesday night confirmed Chester Bowles as ambassador to India over sharp protests by Sen. Taft and other Republicans.

The 43 to 33 vote, largely following party lines, came after a series of heated arguments. Bowles, former governor of Connecticut and wartime price administrator, is a Democrat.

Replying for Republicans, Taft said he knew of no one "less qualified" to be diplomatic spokesman for the nation in one of the toughest parts of the world.

Sen. Butler (R-Neb.) voted with the minority. Sen. Wherry (R-Neb.), who underwent surgery this week, was not recorded as voting.

Democratic lines held steady but republican ranks on the test. Only one democrat, McCarran of Nevada, voted with 32 republicans against confirmation while favorable votes came from 38 democrats and five republicans: Aiken (Vt.), Langer (N.D.), Lodge (Mass.), Morse (Ore.), and Smith (Me.).

Peron To Step Down Till After Nov. 11 Election

BUENOS AIRES—(AP)—Juan D. Peron announced Tuesday night that he is stepping down from the presidency of Argentina until after the election of Nov. 11 in which he is a candidate for re-election.

He called the congress to meet on Oct. 11 to approve an acting president in his place.

Interior Minister Angel Borlenghi announced to a news conference that the motive for Peron's action is that, being a candidate of a political party himself, he does not want to be chief of state when the election takes place, but to assure that the polling shall afford "the most complete guarantees of impartiality."

Britain Won't Move Troops From Egypt

LONDON—(AP)—Britain announced Tuesday she intends to keep her 10,000 troops on guard over the Suez canal and all her rights in the Sudan despite Egypt's efforts to push her out.

A statement by Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison said Britain intended to maintain her "full rights" under the treaties of 1936 and 1937 pending a satisfactory agreement with Egypt on the basis of new proposals which will be presented shortly.

These proposals, it was known, involve the participation of the United States in Suez defense. In Cairo, schools were closed and crowds celebrated Prime Minister Mustapha Nahas Pasha's announcement Monday that Egypt is cancelling both pacts.

Hearings On Ag Program Are Slated

House Group To Hold Meetings In Midwest

Hearings on the department of agriculture's program for the Missouri basin have been scheduled later this month in the midwest by a house sub-committee headed by Representative Poage (D-Tex.).

The department sent congress a proposal two years ago which outlined its ideas of the necessary agricultural phases of the overall flood control and power program for the Missouri river area.

The agricultural program covered a 30-year program of soil conservation practices, planting trees and covers and necessary watershed work. The hearings are to hear witnesses from the area who are concerned with soil conservation and flood control.

The house sub-committee has tentatively scheduled hearings Oct. 15 at Sioux Falls, S. D.; Oct. 16 at Topeka, Kas.; and Oct. 17 at Colby, Kas. Later the group will go into the forest areas of Colorado to consider how to handle the beetle problem in the forests there.

City Hall Crowded As Taxes Fall Due

The office of the city tax collector was a busy place Monday as Lincolinites crowded the city hall to pay their 1951-52 real and personal property taxes.

About 20,000 statements have already been mailed out with an end of this week. Tax payments are due Oct. 1 and delinquent Dec. 1. A seven per cent interest rate is charged on delinquent taxes.

Peace Principles

Wright told the delegates that President Truman has been translating the basic American principles of peace, freedom and justice into the operating foreign policy of the United States.

Two major objectives of the policy, he said, are to protect America and the other free nations from communistic imperialism and the prevention of a third world war.

On the domestic front Wright accused powerful special interests of constantly and bitterly opposing "the tremendous social and economic advances of the people of our country over the last 20 years. They are now attempting by various means including well oiled Washington lobbies to destroy many of these advances under an emergency economy," he said.

AFL Told Fair Labor Act Needed

Wright Raps T-H Law Before Nebraska Group

GRAND ISLAND, Neb.—(AP)—Assistant Secretary of Labor Ralph Wright Tuesday declared that one of the crying needs of the day is a fair and just labor relations act—fair to both employer and employee.

He termed the Taft-Hartley labor relations act and some of the state so-called "right to work" laws now in effect "vicious" and anti-union.

Wright's address was prepared for a banquet at the 42nd annual convention of the Nebraska Federation of Labor (AFL).

Goals Listed
The assistant secretary listed four goals in what he termed "our great movement of social and economic reform."

They are:
A health program that will bring medical care within the reach of the poor.

The kind of protection by law for farm workers that industrial workers now enjoy.

An expanded and improved social security program that will cover more workers.

Improvements in unemployment insurance.

Wright told the delegates that President Truman has been translating the basic American principles of peace, freedom and justice into the operating foreign policy of the United States.

Two major objectives of the policy, he said, are to protect America and the other free nations from communistic imperialism and the prevention of a third world war.

'Star Farmer' Award Goes To Oklahoma Youth

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—(INS)—Harold Dewayne Hodgson, 21-year-old farmer and cattle breeder from Freedom, Okla., was named the winner Tuesday night of the nation's highest award for achievement by farm youths—that of "Star Farmer of America."

Hodgson, married and the father of a one-year-old son, was presented a $1,000 check from the Future Farmers of America foundation at the 24th annual FFA convention.

The young prize winner owns a 320-acre farm with $9,500 worth of livestock. His net worth was estimated by the FFA at $30,495.

In addition to his own farm, Hodgson also operates 255 acres of rented land.

Three other young farmers received foundation awards of $500 each as "Star Farmers" of their regions. They are George Williams, 19, Route 1, Nicholsville, Ky.; Joe Harris, 20, Eagleville, Calif.; and Ralph G. Sumner, 21, Route 2, Kutztown, Pa.

Barney Is New Board Member

Chauncey E. Barney was named county representative to the Lincoln-Lancaster county board of health Tuesday. Barney replaces Chris Kuhner, who resigned as a result of what he termed "irregularities" in the department.

Barney's appointment Tuesday was merely making official what had been known for sometime. Kuhner had been asked to remain on the health board by members of the board, but he said Tuesday he preferred not to do so.

He was appointed at a county commissioners meeting Tuesday.

Good News, Gary; We Are Getting You A New Pony

There was some welcome news awaiting Gary Campbell of Ashland Wednesday.

The 10-year-old lad is going to get a new pony, courtesy of the Lincoln Sunday Journal and Star.

Readers of The Lincoln Star have been able to follow the story of Gary and his pony in their morning papers from day to day and state-wide sympathy toward the lad has been displayed as a result.

Gary lost "Smoky" about three weeks ago when a car smashed into Gary and the beautiful buckskin pony. "Smoky" had to be destroyed and Gary suffered a brain concussion.

And when the boy awoke last week-end after three weeks of unconsciousness, one of his first questions was, "Where's Smoky?" Gary's father, Glen, a construction worker, had promised to get another pony to replace "Smoky," who had been Gary's companion and buddy most of his life.

Now Gary is not only going to get a new pony from the Sunday Journal and Star but also a new saddle martindale and bridle from his father.

On the advice of Gary's doctor, the boy has not yet been told that "Smoky" is gone and that a new "Smoky" will take his place.

When the boy asks about "Smoky," his mother says the pony is "out in the pasture."

U.N. And Red Liaison Officers Meet In Cordial Atmosphere

Convicted Red Hall Reported Held In Mexico

MEXICO CITY—(INS)—Gus Hall, one of the four top American communists who jumped bail while awaiting sentence on conviction for conspiring to overthrow the U.S. government, was reported under arrest in Mexico City Tuesday night.

Mexican police expressed belief that he was on his way back to the border for transfer to the FBI.

(In Wash.—Gus Hall, an FBI spokesman said, "The bureau will have no comment tonight.")

Hall was the national secretary of the American communist party. He was reported seized Monday night at his Mexico City home.

The United States embassy in Mexico said it had no official knowledge of Hall's arrest but admitted that it has "heard rumors to that effect."

GOP Move On To Halt Peterson

'Should Serve Out Term,' Star Told

BY ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

A prominent Nebraska republican leader Tuesday told The Star that a move is under way to circulate petitions urging Gov. Val Peterson not to resign his office in order to run for congress in the Third congressional district.

The source pointed out that the republican party has been in for "considerable criticism" in the past because elective officers resigned when a better opportunity appeared.

Among examples mentioned by the unnamed commentator were: Railway Commissioner Duane Swanson, Attorney General Walter Johnson and his successor, James Anderson.

"Election to office is a contract between the official and the public that a certain task will be performed, and this contract should not be violated," was the opinion expressed by the veteran party worker.

An effort to determine who is backing the movement failed to locate any person who would admit having a part in it, although a number expressed themselves in favor of the plan.

More Accessories Stolen

Another in the increasing list of auto accessory thefts was reported to police Tuesday night by Neal Harlan of 334 North Thirtieth.

He told officers someone had taken a pair of $15 fender skirts from his car while it was parked at Twelfth and R Monday night.

No Job For Amateur:

N.U. Finds 'Old' Painting In Gallery

The University of Nebraska art department got somewhat of a surprise this week with the discovery on one of its paintings—now in the process of being cleaned—of a 1500 date line and a name resembling that of a sixteenth century Italian artist.

B. W. Laging, director of the art department, said that while he is pretty sure the painting, a 5 by 7 with a copper base, has age, it may be suspected as a plain ordinary fake until definitely authenticated.

Laging described the small art job as an "interesting curiosity," probably a work of greater antiquity "than we thought it was."

The inscription on the back places the piece with the "Bologna" school, and the only legible inscription on the face is the date and the initials "I." "Tin" and "Lius," the last used abundantly by German painters in the 19th century.

Behind the discovery was the painstaking work of Mrs. Ingrid Maerta Held, official restorer for the New York Historical society who is working over eight of the university's painting collection.

Mrs. Held, in the art restoring profession for 18 years, is a native of Sweden, and she studied extensively in her home country, Germany and in Italy.

At present, she is being borrowed from the Walker Art center in Minneapolis, Minn., where she is "putting a collection of old masters in order." Special work is being done there on Rubens' painting, "The Holy Family."

Allied Group Jeeps Back To Munsan After Two-Hour Conference In Tent At Panmunjom

(From Press Dispatches)
TOKYO—(Wednesday)—Allied and communist liaison officers met in a cordial atmosphere at Panmunjom today to arrange final details for quick resumption of Korea armistice talks broken off since last Aug. 23.

There were two meetings, one at 8 a.m. (5 p.m. Tuesday CST) and the second at 10 o'clock (7 p.m. Tuesday CST). At 10:30 the liaison groups left a large communist-erected tent and inspected a Sachon river bridge a half mile away and just inside the Kaesong neutral zone.

They huddled with their interpreters on the bridge and talked for ten minutes, then returned to the tent smiling and laughing, but without explaining the reason for the bridge inspection.

The tent conference resumed to break up at 12:25 p.m. (9:23 p.m. Tuesday c.s.t.), when the allied group jeeped back to the United Nations truce base camp at Munsan.

Liaison officers representing the opposing commands met at Panmunjom after the communist high command urged immediate reopening of the cease-fire conference in a new note to Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway.

Red Reply Received

Col. J. C. Murray, Ridgway's chief liaison officer, went to Panmunjom at 8 a.m. to receive the communist message for Ridgway in reply to his message of Tuesday.

Murray was followed to the tiny red outpost by a second liaison group who arrived for talks with communist representatives at 10 a.m.

The exchange of notes between Ridgway and communist Gen. Kim Il Sung and Peng Teh-huai appeared to limit the liaison conference to the setting of a time and date for resuming full dress talks and to discuss physical considerations.

The communist note this morning specified that the larger problems of the size of the new neutral zone around Panmunjom and the mechanics of insuring neutrality should be solved by the armistice conference delegates.

No Hitches Foreseen
There was nothing in the exchange of notes to indicate a last minute hitch was likely to develop and cause further delay in getting the cease-fire talks under way again.

Before the text of the message was announced AP Correspondent Nate Polowetzky wrote from U.N. advance headquarters:

"Should the meeting—either at 10 a.m. or later—come off, it seems likely that the liaison officers will come to some sort of agreement and that the peace negotiations will begin in short order.

"There is much hope here that the resumed negotiations will end in a cease-fire."

The Reds broke off the talks angrily on Aug. 23, charging the allies with violating the Kaesong neutrality zone with an air attack. The charge was formally denied.

HIS BUDDIES ABOARD TRAGEDY SHIP—Gilbert L. Hudson, 24, a crew member of the destroyer Ernest G. Small, displays a picture of the ship which sailed from San Diego leaving him behind in the naval hospital. He is to report to San Francisco destroyer. The ship returned to a few days to rejoin the Ernest G. Small crew. According to the Navy announcement of the blast, the Small was damaged but was able to limp into port at Sasebo, Japan.

Hudson served two years in World War II—most of the time aboard an assault ship in the Philippine area. He re-enlisted in the Navy in December of 1949 and was assigned to the Small a short time after the Korean conflict started.

MRS. INGRID MAERTA HELD ... a ticklish job ... (Star Photo.)

The job is a ticklish one, she points out. In patching up some paintings, especially the high-priced ones, the brush work has to be duplicated to the stroke. The oils also must be matched, and that sometimes gets tough.

Involved many times in restoring paintings is a calling from dealers and museums to authenticate paintings in their technical perfection. In doing this, besides visual examination, X-rays and ultra violet lamps often are used. Mrs. Held, whose husband instructs in art history at Columbia university, New York, was once a painter herself, she said, but it is very difficult to show originality after going over so many other works by hand.

Finnegan Didn't Want His Tax Post

Tried To Quit 3 Times, He Tells Investigators

WASHINGTON—(AP)—James P. Finnegan told a house inquiry committee today that his own income tax payments fell $2,444 short during a three-year period of his job as federal tax collector at St. Louis.

Deficiency assessments for that amount were levied against him by the internal revenue office in Chicago, he said, for 1947-48-49 when he was making more than $30,000 a year practicing law while holding the post of collector.

Finnegan, who is under grand jury as well as congressional investigation, said earlier he had tried to quit the collector's job three times to devote all his time to law, but that President Truman and others had talked him out of it.

Nice Income As Lawyer

He supplied income tax figures that showed his law work brought him $36,783 gross in 1947, $30,867 in 1948 and $37,406 in 1949.

Finnegan's tax return for 1949 showed deductions of $4,681 for entertainment, $3,093 for transportation and $3,212 for hotel bills.

Rep. Curtis (R-Neb.) commented: "To a country lawyer like me, those expenses are a surprise."

Finnegan, who served from 1944 until last April, told a house investigating committee that he wasn't particularly interested in the $10,000 collector's salary and spent only three or four hours a day on the job. He said he was making more money practicing law.

He first tried to quit in 1949, he said, and went so far as to telephone the "Little White House" in Key West, Fla., where Mr. Truman was vacationing.

The last time, he said, was in October, 1950, but he was advised to remain in office after talking with presidential Secretary Matthew Connelly and "also the president of the United States."

He explained: "They weren't in a position to appoint a successor at the time and asked me to stay on."

Woman's Condition 'Fair'; Struck By Part Of Truck Load

In "fair" condition at St. Elizabeth hospital is Kathy Krier, 23, 626 South Twelfth street, following an accident at Sixteenth and Y streets in which she was hit by an object projecting from a truck. Jack Applebee, 24, 3226 Dudley, told police he was turning north onto Y from the west and did not see the girl.

She said she was attempting to cross Sixteenth from the east when part of the load struck her in the face.

S. internal revenue collector at St. Louis, talks with his brother Hugh at a house ways and means subcommittee inquiry Tuesday into administration of the nation's tax collection business. Trio Of Judges Take Repast At County's Jail

Three District court judges ate dinner Tuesday in the county jail. Sheriff and Mrs. Merle Karnopp had the judges to lunch so they could sample inmates' food. And the judges had just what the prisoners did—ham sandwiches and bean soup. That is the regular bill of fare Tuesday and Saturday.

Judges John L. Polk, Harry R. Ankeny and Ralph Wilson all expressed satisfaction over the meal. Evidently the cook of the jail, Mrs. Karnopp, did a good job.

The meal wasn't a regular inspection tour of the jail. Statutes require that the judges inspect the jail once a year. But that inspection, Judge Polk said, will come sometime after the first of the year.

The cleanliness and redecoration of the jail impressed the judges. Judge Polk said the kitchen was exceptionally clean.

Northern Nebraska Lutherans Approve $200,000 Budget

WEST POINT—(AP)—A record $200,000 budget was approved Tuesday for the Northern Nebraska district of the Lutheran church Missouri synod.

The action was taken at the annual fiscal conference meeting at St. Paul's Lutheran church here.

The figure is $25,000 higher for 1951 than last year. The session opened with the 35 pastors, teachers and laymen present previewing a new film produced by the church.

Eighty thousand dollars of the newly proposed budget is to meet the district's share of the synod's $5,250,000 budget. The synod has a baptized membership of more than 1,700,000.

Sixty-four per cent of the district's share of $120,000 will be used for the district's subsidizing of 34 mission stations in northern Nebraska and Wyoming.

Rev. Walter E. Homan of Bancroft, district president, presided. The district's ten circuit visitors or superintendents will remain in West Point for their annual meeting Wednesday.

Chest Workers To 'Kick-Off' Drive At Dinner Meeting

Community chest workers will gather at the Cornhusker hotel Wednesday night to receive materials and instructions on the kick-off eve for the 30th annual chest drive here.

Morris Jacobs, prominent Omaha civic leader, and chairman of that city's successful campaign last fall, will address the dinner-meeting. Albert A. Held, general chairman of the campaign, stated that more than 1,700 workers have been organized in all departments of the drive.

These workers will solicit approximately 36,000 prospects to raise $342,684. More than 2,700 local firms and industrial plants will also receive materials and information through the meeting.

Hausner Rites Thursday With Burial At Ulysses

Funeral services for Mrs. Martha Hausner, 4226 Witherbee boulevard, will be 9 a.m. Thursday at St. Teresa's church. Rev. M. N. Kaczmarek will officiate. Rosary will be recited at 8:15 p.m., Wednesday at Hodgman-Splains.

Mrs. Hausner, 30, died Tuesday. She will be buried at Ulysses.

Surviving are her husband, Arnold; a son, Robert; two daughters, Sharon Kay and Marilyn, all of Lincoln; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Prochaska, Ulysses; three brothers, Ray, Jerome and George, all of Lincoln; five sisters, Mrs. Marie Larsen, Van Nuys, Calif.; Mrs. Georgia Kratochvil, Raymond; Mrs. Olga Coleman, Mrs. Celestine Osmera and Dorothy Prochaska all of Ulysses.

Pre-convention sessions will be held Wednesday afternoon. NBA President Earl H. Wilkins, president of Geneva State bank of Geneva, will preside.

Accident, Health Payments Biggest, Underwriters Told

"Losses paid for accident health insurance are greater than any other type policy," Carl A. Ernst told members of the Lincoln Association of International Accident and Health Underwriters Tuesday.

Ernst, the International association president, from St. Paul, Minn., was one of five guest speakers addressing the Lincoln group at the Cornhusker hotel.

Other speakers included: the past international president, R. J. Castigan of Kansas City; M. C. Laughman, of Minneapolis, Minn.; W. E. Reinsh, of the executive committee of the International board; and O. K. Johnson, president of the Omaha association.

Promotions Go To Nine Firemen Here Oct. 16

Fire Chief E. P. Feaster Tuesday announced nine department promotions, effective Oct. 16. The changes follow the retirement of four fire officers, including Battalion Chief Ted Morris and Sr. Capt. John Kempkes.

Former Senior Captain Henry Spahn, of station 2, will replace Morris as battalion chief at station 5, Chief Feaster said.

Four promotions from junior captains to senior captains were announced. They are: Leonard Hudkins, at station 2; Salvatore Giaraffa, at station 3; Claude White, at the airbase; and William Duffy, at station 5.

Firemen First Class Melvin Pedigo, Carl London, Kenneth Parrott and John Hergenrader were named to be junior captains.

Prof. Sorensen Hits 'Character Assassins' Before Rotary Here

"The only antidotes available to the victim of character assassination are guts, friend, and a will to resist the propaganda of guilt by verbal association," Professor Robert O. Sorensen told members of the Rotary club Tuesday.

Sorensen, assistant professor of law at the University of Nebraska, in an analysis of character assassination entitled, "Your Reputation May Be Next," emphasized that his purpose was not to discuss McCarthyism or politics.

"When we speak of character assassination," he said, "we cannot associate it with one person's name. It is the effort of anyone or any organization to blacken the reputation of someone and what he stands for."

Even In Lincoln

Name calling is done in many places, warned the university sociologist. It has been done on the floor of congress and even in Lincoln, where many prominent men have been accused of socialistic or communistic tendencies, he said.

"An example of guilt by verbal association can be seen," illustrated Sorensen, "when we say that communists speak Russian."

"We therefore say that McCarthy is a communist because he speaks Russian," he said, completing the system of logic used by character assassins.

The only way to refute name-calling, advised Sorensen, is to challenge it.

"Many of us are guilty of letting name-calling continue," he said. "If we all declare ourselves openly, we would discourage the character assassin by forcing him to disperse his fire until it became useless."

Ex-Lincoln Recruiter Proves That Korean War Is Also For 'Old Men'

A 53-year-old Lincolnite had proved Wednesday that the Korean war is an old man's war as well as a young man's war.

Oldsters, said T/Sgt. James L. O'Hara, 1306 G street, are standing the pace pretty well in Korea.

And the former Lincoln army recruiting sergeant added that the conflict is everybody's war.

"If we don't stop them there, we will have to elsewhere," he added.

O'Hara is on leave from the Hot Springs army-navy hospital. The sergeant, who has 26 years in the service, is recuperating from a broken leg and foot he suffered in a fall down a hill into a hole north of Seoul.

"It's rough for everybody over there regardless of age," he commented.

O'Hara said he couldn't say any more about how he received the injury, adding that he was in an intelligence unit the seven months he spent in Korea.

State Liquor Agents Seek Man For No License Sale

State agents were looking Tuesday for Harris Esler, 32, 2203 South Tenth, against whom charges of selling liquor without a license have been filed in Municipal court.

Esler, charged with a third offense, faces a possible sentence of $1,000 fine or six months in the county jail or both if convicted.

Mullendore bought the liquor from Esler and sold it to two state liquor control commission agents, according to Deputy County Attorney Herbert A. Ronin.

Mullendore pleaded guilty to selling the liquor.

Snyder Draws 18 Month Additional Prison Term

Earl W. Snyder, 24, of Chadron, was sentenced to 18 months in prison Tuesday by District Judge Harry R. Ankeny. Snyder pleaded guilty Oct. 3 to charges of auto theft.

The defendant was on parole at the time of the violation, so he must serve the remainder of a two-year escape term, following which he will serve the 18-month term. Snyder started his escape sentence July 1, 1951, and was placed on parole Sept. 12.

Snyder's previous record, according to Adult Probation Officer George H. Meyer, includes a 1-3 year sentence for car theft at Chadron.

"In regard to before it would be a thing of the advertisement past, and with it all the prevalent and writings of J. Gordon Roberts, people don't realize that resentment sent out into the world is truly an enemy of health and happiness."

"Would like to see something written about it by Gordon Roberts, for there should be more such ideas written in the daily papers which everybody reads."

"I read and sincerely believe, 'Lack, want and deprivation and the resentment roused by them are fuel that keeps the fires of war burning.' Isn't it true?"

"There could be something done about poverty it seems. If the people became as enthusiastic about stamping it out as they do, say diseases, it wouldn't be long simple one."

Previously, a series on Prosperity and Depressions ran in a daily paper. Some phases of the problem were discussed in that series. Certainly the problem is not a simple one.

Truman Nominees For Bench In Illinois Rejected

Harrington And Drucker Are Shouted Down By All Senators

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The senate Tuesday rejected President Truman's nomination of two federal judges who were opposed by Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.)

The action prevents President Truman from putting either man on the bench by a recess appointment when congress is not in session.

The committee earlier had voted to pigeonhole the appointments, which would have left the door open to recess appointments.

The action was taken by a voice vote. No voices were heard in favor of the President's nominees for the Chicago judgeships, Cornelius J. Harrington and Joseph J. Drucker.

Douglas told the senate that both Harrington and Drucker "are estimable men and fine citizens," but said he regarded the manner by which they were appointed "personally obnoxious to him."

Including Douglas' brief statement, the senate took less than 15 minutes to reject the nominations.

In another development, a bill creating new judgeships—three on Circuit Courts of Appeal and 16 on District courts, plus four temporary District court positions—was passed on a voice vote and now goes to the house for action.

Cozad Tops Goal In No. 30 Drive

COZAD, Neb.—(AP)—Cozad business places are reported over the top in contributions to an advertising campaign of the U. S. 30 Lincoln Highway association, Nebraska division.

Cozad was given a quota of $125. Contributions amounted to $134. The money has been forwarded to John K. Hammer, Kearney, treasurer of the association.

The campaign for funds, to be used largely for billboards, is being waged in a 13-county area.

Russ Langford, North Platte motel operator, heads the campaign in Lincoln county, where the quota is $700.

The next meeting of association directors is scheduled at Kearney in November. Leroy L. Snyder of Blair is association president.

The association plans to locate highway billboards at key travel points in California. The association already has such signboards in the Chicago area.

Denial Asked For New Zone Beer Licenses

Beer licenses within a three-mile zone of Lincoln may be held to their present number if a policy suggested by Commissioner C. E. Barney is adopted.

Barney suggested at the Tuesday meeting that no more zone beer applications be granted. The commissioners voted to lay the motion on the table for a week to see if there could be any sort of "kickback."

Possible reactivation of the Lincoln air base and "pressure of all sorts" were reasons given by Barney for his move. He said he thought present and potential tavern owners should know their position. He felt that such a policy would make their situation, as well as the commissioners, more stable.

Elizabeth To Make Tour Of Australia In Place Of King

LONDON — (Wednesday) — (INS)—Buckingham palace announced today that Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip will make next year's royal tour of Australia and New Zealand instead of ailing King George VI.

The announcement said the 55-year-old king cancelled his scheduled visit to those commonwealth nations "on doctors' advice" because it "follows so soon after a severe operation."

King George underwent an operation for removal of all or part of a lung last Sept. 23. His recovery has been steady, but a long convalescence is expected and he has appointed a council of state to take over part of his royal duties.

Princess Elizabeth and her husband, Prince Philip, have just begun a tour of Canada.

An Hour For Decision

By J. E. LAWRENCE

LOS ANGELES—We seem to be approaching a crisis in this matter of the atomic bomb as an instrument of mass destruction. It was only a few days ago that Mr. Truman told the American people Russia had exploded its second atomic bomb. Here in the United States people went joyously, at times deliriously, about the business of baseball. Mr. Truman could have attracted a good deal more attention with an appeal "to mob the umpire."

Then Joe Stalin tossed in his two bits. He has had no rival anywhere in the world for honors as a classic example of the strong silent man. He opens his mouth publicly so infrequently that one of the best guessing games outside the iron curtain is whether Stalin actually should be numbered among the dead. It was therefore something of an event when communism's "patron saint" in a rare outburst confessed that Russia had completed a second test of the atom bomb, a more powerful bomb than its first one, and at the same time let his countrymen know that the Moscow regime has been very busy perfecting its new weapons. Russia, Premier Stalin said, does not plan to use the atom bomb against the United States or against any other country. The Russian heart is over-flowing with love for mankind, or something Stalin would palm off on the world as a heart that bleeds for humanity.

This is, of course, the zaniest kind of chit-chat. Russia may not use its atom bomb, but if it neglects to do so it will be because it thinks the time not ripe to strike. What is of more significance is the line of talk that has developed in recent days while true talks at Kaesong become more deeply bogged down in the mud. They now appear to be hopelessly mired, despite the latest move by Ridgway, a keen disappointment to most Americans, but not too much of a surprise. Mr. Truman prefaced announcement of the Russians' second atom bomb by a few days with pointed references to new terrible, fantastic weapons which the United States has perfected. His words were taken up almost immediately by members of congress in positions to elaborate upon the president's cryptic revelation of weapons he said were capable of destroying civilization.

Now the question of interest to 150 million Americans is whether two giants are trying to out-talk each other. It can't be done by either. But this talk of progress in harnessing atomic energy for greater destruction may lead to a drastic shift in military thinking or planning.

Governors In A New Role

Congress has considered that one of its irrefragable rights has been to occupy a dominating position in the deliberations of national conventions of the two major parties.

One of the developments at the governors conference last week was to establish the fact that a serious attempt will be made to challenge this state of affairs. It took the form of announced opposition to the nomination of Senator Bob Taft as the republican candidate for the presidency in 1952, participated in by a handful of governors identified with the more liberal element of the party. Taft has more friends in congress than any other hopeful.

In Nebraska the issue is sharply drawn, with Governor Val Peterson reputedly behind General Eisenhower and Senator Hugh Butler angling to line up Nebraska's votes for "Mr. Republican." Butler's position reflects not only his normal conservative views but a long friendship with Taft. From the day Butler landed in Washington the two men have been close, conferring

One of the most primitive of primitive struggles in Korea had brought about great changes. It was a type of warfare familiar in its techniques, but vastly different from the closing months of struggle either in Europe or in the Pacific where the first atom bomb fell in Hiroshima. There was an absence of the great air raids that brought Germany to its knees; and, of course, nothing even slightly resembling the climax of the Pacific struggle.

We have been spending a billion dollars yearly for atomic bomb development. Now in recent days we are urged to increase to 6 billion dollars. There is the assurance that a new emphasis in making America strong in the field of atomic warfare actually will reduce the ultimate burdens of rearmament. Neither the Russians nor Americans have suggested that the next major war will be waged with atomic weapons. But if talk is to be taken seriously there can be no other conclusion that the more conventional weapons of war are to be put in mothballs.

All this ultimately winds up with a reappraisal of how much money is to be spent and how it is to be spent. The chairman of the senate-house atomic group, Senator Brien McMahon, in a speech in the senate said it was possible to increase our presently-planned atomic production by 150 per cent if the necessary funds and priorities are granted. McMahon called for all-out mass production of atomic weapons for the army, navy and air force. Ahead, then, is a decision which affects every man, woman and child but which can be made only in utmost secrecy by a few since the details of atomic preparedness are and should be top secrets.

It may be a good thing that our baseball and our football and our other diversions can so fully preoccupy public attention. It no longer is possible for masses of people, free, or living under totalitarian regimes, to pass upon the measures of national security. One of the unprecedented facts of our times is that the big decisions, spelling life or death, relative safety or deadly peril, must be made by a few—so very few. Never before have we been called upon to the same degree in placing our trust in those directly charged with insuring national security. And the hour for that decision has been moved forward by these exchanges between the United States and Russia in individual claims about progress on atomic weapons.

weekly on matters of legislation, usually are found voting together. It was Senator Butler who did what he could to herd Nebraska's votes to Taft in 1948 although Stassen's primary victory made it difficult to accomplish very much.

Butler is busy with his own campaign for reelection, and it fits in perfectly with his personal interest to lead Nebraska into the Taft camp.

Again there is the reflection that politics make strange bedfellows. In 1948 former Governor Stassen and Taft teamed up to stop Tom Dewey. This year Stassen and Dewey had been beating the brush for General Eisenhower, although Stassen's support of Eisenhower is not to be taken at full face value, we have been told. And Stassen is prominently identified with the governors and former governors out to prevent Taft's nomination.

It is still nearly a year away. Anything can happen. But the new role in which the governors have cast themselves may be more of a factor in determining 1952's convention choice than now seems likely.

Filling Stefan's Shoes

The election to fill the congressional vacancy created by the death of veteran Representative Karl Stefan is one of special importance. No new man can go to the house in the hope of making himself heard immediately, but Nebraskans should be concerned about the standing of their delegation beyond the borders of the state. It is now at low ebb—leaves a lot to be desired.

We have been amazed by the sharp criticism directed at Senator Wherry and Senator Butler by former Nebraskans living on the west coast now. It is not a matter of partisanship. Most of those with whom we have talked are republicans, bitterly critical of the Truman administration, clamoring for a change in national leadership. But they do not take to the brand of republicanism symbolized by Wherry and Butler. As for the house delegation, they have been unable to recall the name of a single man now representing Nebraska.

The great scramble in the next few years will come in congress. Better congressional representation should be of concern to Nebraskans.

Back On The Throne

They have always taken their football seriously — perhaps too seriously — on the Pacific coast. The season now under way gives them something to talk about and the west coast press from Seattle to Los Angeles is not missing a single trick.

There are at least six, possibly seven, great teams in the Pacific coast conference, the equal of any in the country. The California Bears have demonstrated they have what it takes in abundance, seasoned veterans and reserves so deep that the coaching staffs have difficulty in keeping the names of the players in mind.

Those Old Jalopies

The problem of automobiles of ancient vintage on the streets—particularly in college and university towns—is one that continues to plague other drivers, pedestrians and police alike. These ancient jalopies, which long ago should have been retired after full and faithful service, are not only noisy and unsightly, but of questionable safety.

The city of Cleveland has managed to get rid of a good number of these menaces by appealing to the civic virtue of their owners. The Cleveland Automobile Dealers association agreed to haul away any vehicle at its own expense, turn it over to a scrap dealer who guaranteed a flat $42.25 for each vehicle, and then give the proceeds to the American Cancer society for cancer research. And the scrap dealer promised metal salvage would go into America's defense effort.

Not only did a worthwhile cause benefit, but Cleveland is a better town now without those old jalopies cluttering up the streets. Even the owners of the cars gained, for they got rid of vehicles which had reached a point where they were nothing but a year-around headache. Everybody came out a winner in Cleveland.

Washington Merry-Go-Round— Tax Squabble Affects Everyone's Pocketbook

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Some of the most vital congressional debates never get into the headlines. All last week, a debate affecting the pocketbook of every adult in the nation took place between conferees from the senate and house over taxes. Newsmen and the public were not admitted.

The chief debaters were two distinguished and highly respected gentlemen from the South—Sen. Walter F. George of Georgia and Rep. Bob Doughton of North Carolina. In many respects they are similar, but on taxes they vigorously disagree.

Both are elderly—George 73 and Doughton 88. Both have served in congress for a large part of the twentieth century—George for 29 years, Doughton 40 years. Both come from rural backgrounds, though George of late has numbered some of the nation's captains of high finance among his friends.

Doughton, despite his age, has long been the first congressman to get to work in the morning. He used to open his office at 5:30 a. m., but after passing his eightieth birthday, he compromised by getting to work at 6 a. m. Down in North Carolina, Doughton used to ride a big white mule through the mountains visiting constituents, which gave him the nickname, "Muley Bob."

In the recent closed-door tax debates, Senator George probably has thought that Doughton was mullish in more ways than one, for Muley Bob has been his most stubborn opponent in trying to plug the loopholes in the senate's so-called "millionaires' tax bill."

"All of the senate amendments are for tax relief in one form or another," grumbled the big North Carolinian at one stormy committee session.

"The president asked us for sixteen billions in new taxes to balance the budget," Doughton continued, aiming his remarks directly at Senator George, "but the house cut this down to ten billion and finally to $7.2 billion. You can't reduce it any more."

Taft Vs. Eisenhower

A secret strategy meeting of Taft-for-president leaders was held in Washington last Thursday night. Present was John Hamilton, the Kansas-born GOP chairman for Alf Landon who now works for oilman Joe Pew in Philadelphia; also Taft's cousin, Dave Ingalls, who was assistant secretary of war in the Hoover administration.

Ingalls, who has been scouring the 48 states for Taft delegates, reported to the meeting that if the convention were held today, Taft would pull 500 of the 600 GOP delegates.

Others present were more conservative, estimated Taft's strength nearer 350. Ingalls also announced that the only threat to Taft was Eisenhower, but that GOP leaders figure he will not make a sufficiently aggressive fight to get nominated.

Anti-Taft forces, fully sensing the danger that Taft will definitely pledge GOP leadership before they know whether Eisenhower is available, have now decided to take the bit in their teeth.

They will put out an announcement fairly soon that Sen. James Duff of Pennsylvania will head the Eisenhower forces. Following this, they expect to get a personal statement from the general around Christmas time, possibly before. He will state that he will be available for the GOP nomination.

Reason for the early appointment of Jim Duff as Eisenhower leader is the current hemming-and-hawing among the general's supporters. Between genial ex-senator Harry Darby of Kansas, Tom Dewey, and Senator Duff, no one has known who was boss.

Washington Calling— Government Officials Get Signals Crossed

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — An event of last week demonstrated once again that what the government does with its left hand is all too often unknown to its right hand. And that is especially true of what is told or not told to the public, a subject that has drawn bitter complaint from President Truman directed at press and radio.

Gordon Dean, chairman of the atomic energy commission, made a speech at the University of Southern California in Los Angeles. His subject was the moral leadership of the United States in relation to atomic weapons.

Dean talked about a "new era" in which atomic weapons could be used against troops in the field as well as against cities and industrial targets in mass bombing. On the basis of this language, the speech produced news stories and headlines to the effect that these weapons were available in sufficient quantity to overcome the advantage of the mass manpower that could be put into the field by Russia or China.

That speech was not seen in advance by top officials of the department of defense, either civilian or military. It was brought to their attention about the time that Dean was making his talk in Los Angeles.

What made the newspaper accounts of the speech more surprising to the Pentagon was that the whole effort in that quarter had been to avoid holding out immediate hope of what the "fantastic new weapons" could do. At his first press conference as secretary of defense, Robert A. Lovett had stressed that these weapons were still in the experimental stage and would not figure for some time in the military budget of any of the three services. Over-optimistic hints about what fantastic weapons could do had prompted him to hold the conference.

Even more significant was the statement made by General Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, in a supposedly secret session of the senate armed services committee. Bradley on September 24 said that these weapons were four or five years away insofar as their practical use in mass in the field was concerned. Although this statement was made on the most secret basis, it was promptly leaked by certain senators at the committee hearings.

Dean's motive is fairly apparent. Along with Senator Brien McMahon, chairman of the joint senate-house atomic energy committee, he wants to increase greatly the installations and the productive capacity of the commission, perhaps going so far as to double them. This may be desirable in view of the "promise" of the new weapons. But in "selling" this to the public, the ever-present hope for some new magic is bound to be inflated with unfortunate consequences both at home and abroad.

Nebraskans: In The Workshop And At Home

By JERRY WARREN

LINCOLN police department's "Car 29," with its loud speaker mounted on top and its blinking red light, is more than just an ordinary cruiser car.

In addition to issuing tickets for traffic violations, investigating accidents and keeping order at civic events, Cruiser Officers Charles Skinner and Richard Jones keep an eye on Lincoln residents in automobiles and afoot.

Pedestrians frequently hear the voice seemingly coming out of nowhere, warning a violation of traffic regulations.

"Please don't cross the street when the light is flashing green," the voice may boom.

"No parking in a bus zone," it might warn.

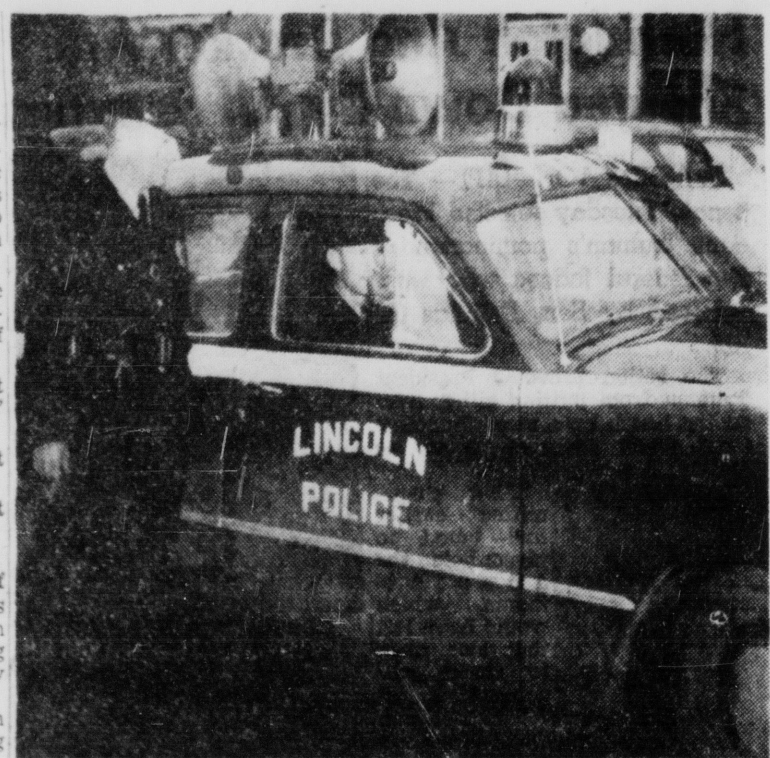

Or: "Be careful, there—don't step off the curb too soon."

ACCORDING to Police Chief Joseph T. Carroll, the car is part of an "educational program to better acquaint the walking and driving public with city ordinances."

The system began in 1931 with the purchase of an open touring car, outfitted with steel plating, bullet-proof windshields and armor protecting the radiator and tires.

Three officers, armed with rifles and shot guns, were assigned to the car with the purpose of protecting banks and other buildings downtown.

Driving Hazard

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Loud and long has been the expression in recent days in criticism of the bus service, rate increases and of the drivers themselves, but I for one would like to state that these drivers have a few problems of their own to cope with. The public—broken down into units of irritable, demanding and unreasonable individuals—not only is not easy to please; the word is "impossible."

I ride the buses each day and with only a few rare exceptions have found the men and women who operate them efficient, pleasant, and courteous well beyond the line of duty. Around the downtown area, there is one bad situation I have observed regularly at almost every busy intersection and that is the way pedestrians waiting for a light to change inch out into the street. The danger from the normal line of traffic is not so great, but the buses swinging up to the loading areas must come almost to a stop at times waiting for these groups to move back to safety on the sidewalk.

Let us give credit where it is due, and as pedestrians, riders, or drivers do our bit for safety on the busy streets.

Ragan Speaks Up

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I have before me the write-up in The Sunday Journal and Star of October 7 in regard to our town of Ragan. I feel that the man you sent out here did us an injustice. I don't see how it could be called good business on your part to run somebody down just to get a write-up for your paper.

I have talked to several other people who have read the article and they all feel the same—that the write-up has done your paper more harm than good. I live in Ragan and am proud of it.

EARL SOHUS

Ragan, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I was surprised when I read your article on Axtell and Ragan. I didn't think a paper of standing would stoop so low as to smear any community in Nebraska. It was very unnecessary on your part. It doesn't add one citizen to Axtell, but it gives Ragan a black eye. I was sorry to see this happen.

W. E. RUFF
Editor's note: The Sunday Journal and Star, of course, intended no reflection upon Ragan.
The article was intended to contrast population and economy in two Nebraska towns.

Current Relief Practices

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: There are two points I would like to make in response to your article headed "Welfare Fund Secrecy Grip Is Under Fire," by Paul R. Leach in your Sunday, October 7 issue.

The article stated that lawmakers hope the publishing of names of recipients of relief would discourage chiselers. Part of the effectiveness of this means of excluding relief chiselers is the disgrace of being publicly listed as a recipient of government assistance. Should not some consideration be given to the effect of this practice on worthy recipients, those with bona fide reasons for asking help? The hardship is not only on the adults but on the children in cases where families are forced to ask for relief temporarily or for long periods. How might children feel when they realized word had gotten around of their situation with, of course, no mention of the hard work by the family to earn at least part of their income? The framers of the federal social security act felt there was too much harm to be done by publishing lists of relief recipients to justify what good might come of it.

The article also mentioned that elimination of the federal ruling prohibiting the publishing of names would help to return control of relief funds to the states. There is no mention of rejecting federal funds, only rejection of federal regulations regarding the spending of that money. Let us apply the Golden Rule. If Nebraskans are to contribute through federal taxation to the relief funds, of say, the southern states, should not our federal government have some control over those moneys? And then shouldn't the same apply elsewhere? Also, if one state were to become more generous than another to relief recipients, mightn't they become the unhappy hosts to many poor from less wealthy states? And if this occurred, there undoubtedly would be a downward spiral in relief standards which would be unduly oppressive on our "down-but-not-outers."

And so, I say it is necessary to think carefully about the effect on the poor of our own state when we advocate the publishing of their names. Also, it is well to consider the disorganizing effect on living standards of this lowest income group before weakening the present form of federal control of relief practices.
MRS. A. P. BATES

DIFFERENCE
He cannot see it my way.
His way I cannot see.
The low way or the highway,
One better seems to me.
But meet on straight or byway
Good friends we still can be.
He seeks the truth as I do.
I seek the truth as he.
And so I wonder why do
Grave quarrels have to be?
Why let what mind and eye do
Make foes of him and me?

Forty-First Annual State Grange Convention Opens

Leadership Possession Of Everyone

N.U. Speaker Tells Opening Session

Nebraska State Grange members were told Tuesday that the "real test of leadership is the ability of a leader to sell himself and his ability to other people."

The speaker was Dr. William E. Hall, professor of educational psychology at the University of Nebraska, as the forty-first three-day annual session of the Grange got under way at the Lincoln hotel.

Leadership, Dr. Hall said, is a part of the ability of every normal person.

The speaker pointed out that a good leader leads only as long as he is thoroughly conversant with the subject and then finds another leader to replace him.

Six-Point Plan

Earlier, Grange Master H. C. Filley presented a six-point program to "end the present danger of runaway inflation."

His six points:

1. The return to the gold standard as an automatic check on bank practice by putting a brake on government spending.
2. Permit no further increases in the amount of money in circulation per capita.
3. Stiffen credit controls to curb speculative buying.
4. Permit a moderate rise in the interest rate to encourage saving.
5. Balance the national budget and make plans to reduce the national debt. Reduce the number of federal employees by increasing the number of hours worked per week and reducing the length of vacation period and the number of days of sick-leave allowed.
6. Increase industrial production, outlaw all rules and regulations that limit the amount of work that an employee may perform in an hour, and modify laws which discourage men and women from working after they have reached the age of 65.

Against Subsidization

The Grange master, for years a University of Nebraska agricultural economist, declared himself against new government activity and subsidization. "Federal funds should not be used to subsidize

EDWARD "RUBE" WADDELL, pitcher for the old Philadelphia Athletics, was one of baseball's zaniest "characters." It was in an exhibition game in 1902 that he pulled his most famous stunt.

IN THE LAST HALF OF THE NINTH, "Rube" sent all the players off the field, leaving only the catcher behind the plate. Then, with magnificent arrogance, "Rube" struck out the last three batters on nine pitched balls!

Rev. Paschang Is Consecrated As Bishop In Special Ceremony

OMAHA—(AP)—In a 17-century-old ceremony, Most Rev. John L. Paschang Tuesday was consecrated as bishop of Grand Island.

A capacity crowd at St. Cecilia's Cathedral witnessed the traditional ceremonies attending such a Catholic event—the third such consecration of a bishop in Omaha church history.

"We have the firm hope that the See of Grand Island, which is given to you, will be ruled so skillfully and so prudently by you that, in the days to come, God willing, it will make great progress," said the BULL from Pope Pius XII which named Bishop Paschang.

The BULL was read in both Latin and English to the assembled congregation.

Then came the traditional examination of the new bishop, in which he publicly affirmed his faith and dedicated himself anew to his life of service.

Bestows Blessing

During the actual act of consecration, Bishop Paschang was anointed and was given the crozier,

State May Get Its First Western Oil

SIDNEY, Neb. (AP) — The state of Nebraska, if all goes right, may get its first western Nebraska oil well within the next couple of weeks.

Ohio Oil company has announced a new drilling location on state land in the newly-opened east Brownson field five miles northwest of Sidney as an offset to the discovery well, Runge No. 1.

Discovery of the Runge well was regarded as the top development of the past two weeks in the Julesburg basin oil play. Ohio is erecting tank batteries at the Runge No. 1 and will start producing it within the near future.

view Grange at Blair, Ione Noves of the Elkhorn Grange, Mrs. Marion Frances Spidel of Waverly, and Paul Paulson of the Garden Grange at Oshkosh. The ceremony was in charge of Mrs. George Rohwer of Ft. Calhoun.

The Grange's activities scrapbook contest was won by the Waverly Grange with the Elkhorn group second. The Riverview and Elkhorn Granges, both winners in a square dance contest last spring, gave a demonstration Tuesday night. The first day's activities ended with square dancing by the Grange members.

Resolutions are to be reported out of committee Wednesday morning, and the annual Grange banquet, with William B. Pearson, master of the Minnesota Grange as speaker, scheduled for 6:15 in the Lincoln hotel's ballroom.

Hearing Sought 'On Merits' Of Land Lease Suit

OMAHA—(AP)—Plaintiffs' attorneys in a Nebraska school land lease suit asked Tuesday that a hearing "on the merits" of the case be set for Oct. 29 before a panel of three federal judges.

This is the suit brought by William Propst of Grant, Neb., seeking to prevent the state from selling school land leases at public auction.

The three-judge panel Saturday refused to grant a temporary injunction which would have stopped the sales. However, the ruling left the way open for a further court test of the case on its merits.

The panel was composed of Circuit Judges Joseph W. Woodrough and Harvey M. Johnson, and District Judge James A. Donohoe.

Perfume That Clings

Q.—Dear Penny: I adore perfume, but for some reason or other its fragrance just does not last on me. I have told several of my friends that I want a new perfume but first I must find out about a lasting one.—Mrs. A. W.

Some-where a Road is Call-ing

If the purr of a great-powered engine is music to your ears —

If command of two tons and more of nimble-footed and beautifully balanced automobile can step up your pulse beat —

You are just the man for whom a ROADMASTER was engineered.

Whatever it takes to give you a sense of complete and carefree freedom behind its wheel, you'll find in this proud master of the highways.

Added to the breadth and length that any fine car can give you are four soft-action coil springs to cushion the wheels, and a torque-tube to banish rear-wheel wander. Added to its high-compression, valve-in-head engine are eight exclusive Fireball combustion chambers that get extra power from each whirling charge of fuel.

Added to the convenience of clutch-free driving is the torque-converter principle of Dynaflo Drive—that feeds a steady flow of power without lag or falter ever.

Added to the light responsiveness of its steering wheel is a Buick-engineered "front-end geometry" that gives this phenomenal performer a sense of direction straight and true.

But no roll call of engineering accomplishments can tell you the feel of a ROADMASTER out on the road.

That's something that only firsthand acquaintance can bring. Not just a trip around the block—but enough time and enough miles to let you discover what a joyous companion this great car can be.

That's something that is easily arranged. If you're truly interested, a phone call will bring a ROADMASTER to your door.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

Only Late Planted Corn Was Damaged By First Frost

Optimism Voiced On Wheat Crop

In the week following the first heavy frost and freeze in Nebraska, farm reports indicated that the bulk of the state's corn was sufficiently mature to withstand the freeze.

But the state and federal division of agricultural statistics stated that late planted corn was damaged badly. Some of the which as still in the soft dough or early hand dough state, will produce light, chaffy grain, the bureau pointed out.

Although farmers with frost-damaged corn are using it for ensilage, the quality of the plant as feed will be limited since the dry, brittle leaves will drop off as they are harvested.

Elsewhere on the state crop scene, farmers have completed most of their winter wheat seeding. The bureau said much of this wheat is already up and "looking exceptionally well." Briefly, this is the picture on other state crops: Sorghum—Still immature when damaged by frost. Some has been harvested.

Soybeans—Some damage from frost.

Sugar beets—Harvest started last week with good crop in prospect.

Beans—Frost, rust and hail have caused "very disappointing prospects."

Pastures—In the east the picture looks good, and elsewhere prospects are for good fall wheat pastures. The alfalfa seed crop is expected to be short.

Although the week started off in good Indian summer style, cold, wet and cloudy weather moved in for the last few days. Highlight of the latter week was a moderate, wet snow at Sidney, and precipitation over most of the state.

Precipitation throughout the state for the week ending Monday included:

Grand Island	84	Norfolk	84
Lincoln	1.30	Omaha	38
Burlington	81	North Platte	53
Valentine	72
Chadron	81	Sidney	1.59

Don Perry, a young farmer living near Malcolm, usually has his hands full as leader of the Malcolm Juniors 4-H club.

The Malcolm Juniors are a conservation club on the one hand, and a farm shop club on the other. And on top of that, it is also a dairy club. Some of the boys are taking conservation projects and some farm shop. The girls and some of the boys also take dairy, and several are enrolled in all three 4-H projects.

But Don isn't complaining. He likes to keep the boys and girls busy with their 4-H work, and he has some help close at hand. His father, Owen, is assistant leader of the combined club, and a brother, Elton, is assistant leader of the farm shop bunch.

Labor Urged To Aid Fight On Communism

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. — (AP) — A plea for labor's support in the fight against communism in America was voiced Tuesday by Gordon Preble, Omaha president of the Nebraska State Federation of Labor.

Preble's annual report highlighted Tuesday's session of the federation's annual convention.

Preble, like others before him on the program, voiced labor's opposition to the use of prison labor in competition with free labor.

Too Much Prison Labor

"Although we have opposed the use of this labor for some time," he said, "it doesn't seem that our avowed opposition is very effective because there is entirely too much prison labor being used in the state today."

Other speakers Tuesday included Bob Garrity, Omaha; R. J. Thomas, St. Louis, Mo.; Paul Larsen and Joe Gross, Omaha, and John Peterson of Wilmer, Minn. Larsen told the delegates that labor wants nothing short of repeal for the Taft-Hartley act.

Tax Limit Urged

Sixteen resolutions were referred to committees.

One resolution urged state federation officers to promote a campaign of opposition to a proposed amendment to the national constitution which would limit the federal government's income taxing power to 25 per cent on individuals, corporations, and estates.

Another would increase the pay of Nebraska's state senators and still another would recommend a 10 per cent boost in the federation president's salary.

Two amendments to the Omaha city charter also were suggested. One would increase pension benefits for municipal employees and the other would strengthen the civil service setup in Omaha.

At the afternoon session the delegates passed six of the first eight resolutions read from the floor. They dealt with modifications in the federation constitution.

State Briefs

WEST POINT—N. J. Reichlinger and Ray Limbaugh, both of West Point, were named supervisors of the Cuming county soil conservation district at a recent election.

CURTIS—Margaret Teel, senior from Indianola, has been elected president of the student body at the University of Nebraska school of agriculture here. Other officers are Willis Cushing, Palisade, vice president; and Shirley Richards, Curtis, secretary-treasurer.

RANDOLPH—The Randolph Community club is sponsoring a "Save the Soil" banquet here Wednesday night. The banquet will be attended by farmers and businessmen of Pierce, Cedar and Wayne counties. James Wallace of Iowa State college will be the main speaker and Governor Val Peterson is also scheduled to take part in the program.

LEXINGTON—The Lexington chapter of the Future Farmers of America will sponsor a purebred hog sale at the Lexington sale barn Wednesday. More than 40 head of purebred hogs and gilts of several breeds will be offered.

Argentines Walk Out Of Inter-American Press Convention

Uproar Causes Collapse Of Group's Head

BY BEN F. MEYER
MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay — (AP) — Argentine applicants for membership in the inter-American Press association walked out in a huff Tuesday when 33 of their 44 bids for membership were turned down by the convention.

In the excitement, 76-year-old Tom Wallace, editor emeritus of the Louisville (Ky.) Times and president of the association, collapsed in the convention chamber and was rushed to a hospital.

Physicians said they were not certain whether he was suffering from a heart condition, brain hemorrhage or extreme fatigue. He was reported improved Tuesday night.

Wallace had stayed up until 2 a.m. with the association's board of directors, passing on the flood of Argentine applications for membership.

Desires Good Will
A long-time campaigner for good will among the American republics, he had advocated admitting the Argentines on the ground that they represented legitimate publications and the association already included members from countries where press freedom is restricted.

Some members of the association, organized in New York last year to guard freedom of the press throughout the western hemisphere, had been alarmed at the possibility editors supporting President Juan Peron in Argentina were out to capture the organization.

The association took the Peron regime sharply to task last year for stifling press freedom and in turn was called a group of "gangsters" by the Peron press.

Carmelo Rizzo Baratta of Ahora, a Buenos Aires magazine already a member of the association, led the walkout. He declared the organization in its election of new members had manifested "capitalist interest" and violated the principles of democracy, social justice and press liberty.

This statement was greeted by laughter. Cheers accompanied the departure of the Argentines. Outside, Rizzo attempted to make a speech, but was drowned out by jeers of a group of Argentine exiles and other delegates who shouted "Fascists! Peronists get out!"

Wilfredo Loro of the Ecuadorian, accompanied the Argentines on their walkout, as did several Brazilians.

Man Killed In Ponca Accident

PONCA, Neb. —(AP)—George Drivers, about 75, of Waterbury, Neb., was killed Tuesday when struck by a car as he crossed the highway about a mile east of the junction of Highway's 9 and 20 near Ponca.

Sheriff Sam Curry said Drivers was crossing the highway to flag down an oncoming truck to hitch a ride. He was struck by a car driven by A. V. Mathers of West Branch, Neb., coming around a curve from the opposite direction.

Curry said the truck driver, a man named Leach (first name unavailable) from Ewing, Neb., told him Drivers apparently became confused, starting first one way and then the other before the car struck him.

Drivers' death brings the state highway death toll to 250 compared with 225 a year ago at this time.

New Denial Is Issued By Wallace

'China Report Didn't Urge Aid To Reds'

WASHINGTON — (INS)—Former Vice President Wallace Tuesday gave secret testimony to the senate anti-subversive committee and then issued a new denial that he urged pro-communist policies in China in 1944.

Wallace released an 11-page statement on his 1944 China mission to newsmen and said the committee refused to accept it for the record.

The statement declared that Wallace's wartime mission to China resulted in a recommendation "which originated wholly in a wish to see Chiang Kai-shek (the nationalist leader) aided in the best manner possible." Wallace said it was hard for him to see how such a recommendation "can be called pro-communist in any sense."

The one-time presidential candidate added, however, that after the war "I became so absorbed in the deep desire for peace that I altered certain of the positions which I held during the war years, including my views with respect to our China policy."

Wallace continued: "I now believe, as I have made clear to the American people that this change of views was a mistake."

The former vice president pointed out that he recommended the appointment of anti-communist Lt. Albert C. Wedemeyer to command U. S. troops in China,

A preliminary report on bridges will be submitted from the Howson firm in December with the final plan anticipated in four to six months. The firm will also take a survey of Salt creek for the district alone.

UNACCUSTOMED As I Am

BY JOYCE FINE

Judging by the number of squirrel hunters charging through the thickets this past weekend, quite a lot of housewives are expected to cook—and serve—and even EAT squirrel. After my first experience with the little bushy-tails, I believe that I prefer them in trees—but if there's a squirrel in your kitchen, don't let it intimidate you. Go ahead and cook it—who can tell, you might like it—and at least you can say that you tried.

Tender young squirrel can be fried like chicken—browned quickly, then cooked slowly until done. But since my squirrels were old and tough, I converted them into hassenpfeffer.

Hassenpfeffer is supposed to be based on rabbit, but rabbit and squirrel are much the same when it comes to cooking. The marinating and long cooking involved in hassenpfeffer are enough to tenderize an inner-tube, not to mention a wee little squirrel.

So, to proceed with the squirrel-pfeffer—After being cleaned and cut into joints and saddles, the squirrels were "hung" in the refrigerator for two days. Then they were marinated for two more days in a mixture of equal parts of water and vinegar, sufficient to cover them, with a dozen whole cloves, a large onion, sliced, four bay leaves, a half-teaspoon of rosemary, a stalk of celery, chopped, two tablespoons of salt and a tablespoon of pepper. As you can see, this is no recipe for people with ulcers.

Then, when cooking time rolled around, the pieces of squirrel were removed from the liquid, drained, and browned in butter in a heavy skillet. Then a cup of the liquid in which they were marinated was poured over them, the skillet covered, and they simmered for an hour and a half—they really were tough. When they were tender, they waited on a hot platter while a cup of soured cream was added to the liquid in the skillet and heated to make a sauce, served over the squirrel. Amazingly, it was very good.

By the way, if "hassenpfeffer" sounds too ridiculous, you may call this dish ecureuil a la mode.

Lefferdink Rites To Be Wednesday

Long Time Civic Leader Of Hickman

Funeral services for Fred J. Lefferdink, 70, former mayor of Hickman, who died late Monday, will be held at 1:30 Wednesday afternoon at the Brookema funeral home and at 2 o'clock at the Presbyterian church in Hickman. Rev. Richard Ohlen will officiate and burial will be in the Hickman cemetery.

Mr. Lefferdink retired from office only last March after serving 40 F. I. Lefferdink years as councilman and mayor. He passed away in a Lincoln hospital. He was a retired automobile dealer and farmer.

He was born in Lincoln Sept. 12, 1881, and in May, 1905, he married Annette Moore of Decatur, Ill.

Mr. Lefferdink was prominent in farming and soil conservation programs and was a member of the Hickman fire department, the Masonic lodge and the Presbyterian church.

During both World wars and the Korean conflict, Mr. Lefferdink was active in sponsoring going-away and welcome-back parties for servicemen. In World War II he acted as Lancaster county civilian defense chairman. Mr. Lefferdink during the past 40 years raised some of the finest Irish Setters in America. Known nationally as a raiser and judge of Irish Setters, he judged the Irish Setter division of the world's largest dog show, the Morris-Essex show in New Jersey, and the Westminster dog show at Madison Square Garden in New York. Lefferdink was one of the organizers of the Cornhusker Kennel club of Lincoln and served as its president for two years.

Survivors include his wife; a sister, Mrs. Cora C. Gibbons of Lincoln; two brothers, A. S. Lefferdink, of Lincoln, and E. H. Lefferdink of Hickman.

Fire Department Holds Open House

The Lincoln fire department is holding open house this week in conjunction with fire prevention week. All stations will be open to the public.

Visitors were allowed to sit in the trucks and the younger ones saw demons come true when they sat behind the wheel of the big hook and ladder trucks.

The firemen outlined what takes place when an alarm is sounded. Of course, the practice of sliding down the pole was of great interest.

Also explained was the training each fireman must go through before he becomes a real fire fighter.

16th, K Zoning Is Delayed By Council Pending Hearing

The capitol environs zoning of three lots at the corner of Sixteenth and K owned by the Midwest Life Insurance company was delayed by the city council pending a public hearing on the matter.

The change would put the lots in the newly proposed apartment C zoning under the capitol environs ordinance prepared for the square block area surrounding the state capitol building.

City Attorney John Jacobson reported Monday that the city planning commission had no objections to the Midwest change. The council, however, felt it should not act on the matter until surrounding property owners had been heard from.

The overall capitol zoning plan has been vigorously protested by property owners involved. A hearing was requested before any

21 New Cases Boost Polio Count To 350

Polio cases in the state so far this year soared to 350 with the state department of health reporting 21 new cases during the week ending Oct. 6. Last year at the same time only 315 cases had been reported.

Douglas county reported four of the new cases and Dodge county three. Lancaster, Adams and Buffalo counties each reported two cases. Counties with but a single case were: Antelope, Custer, Dawson, Greeley, Kimball, Lincoln, Sarpy and Saunders.

Council action was taken on the area.

SIXTH GAME TO BE DO-OR-DIE FOR GIANTS

Scholastic Difficulties Newest Headache To Plague Glassford

Yanks Pit Raschi Against Koslo After 13-1 Fifth Game Conquest

BY NORRIS ANDERSON
(Sports Editor, The Star)

A MIDST all of his other woes, Coach J. William Glassford of the Nebraska Cornhuskers announced Tuesday that the scholastic bugaboo threatened his Cornhuskers.

Glassford announced that eight of his varsity squad members had not been attending classes.

"Anyone missing a single class from now on without an excuse will be dropped from the football squad," Glassford warned.

Excuses must be from the dean of men, athletic department or the student health department.

EDUCATION FIRST

Glassford issued the blast before sending his squad through a long scrimmage in preparation for the Saturday game with Penn State.

"The boys are in school primarily to get an education," Glassford enlarged. "We will not have a boy representing Nebraska on the athletic field who is not interested in an education."

On the Bobby Reynolds question, Glassford doubted if the All-American halfback would even be ready for the Minnesota game a week from Saturday.

This added fuel to the possibility that Reynolds may be withheld from competition for the year.

LEATHER POPS

Otherwise, the main noises in the Huskers camp were the popping of leather as Glassford concentrated on his last session of rough stuff before the Nittany Lions invade.

The mentor praised the work of Freshman Jim Yiesley, Coin, Ia., defensive halfback who was promoted to the varsity Monday.

Visitors in the camp included Movie Actor John Derek, who is starring in the football picture Saturday's Hero, and his press representative, Milton Young.

A sell-out crowd of nearly 40,000 will be in the stands Saturday when Penn State and Nebraska collide at Lincoln.

LIONS STRONG

From State college comes word that the return to action of Guard Pete Schoderbek against Villanova once again places the Nittany Lions at full strength.

Schoderbek, 190-pound Duquesne boy, injured his ankle before pre-season drills began and sat out the first game against Boston U. He played briefly against Villanova, will be available again Saturday.

Ted Shattuck, the team's top ground gainer, and Bob Szajna (pronounced Shine-uh), sophomore quarterback, were lost to the Lions by injuries in the third period last Saturday but Dr. A. H.

Test Case To Attempt Force N.F.L. Give Up TV 'Monopoly'

By HERB ALTSCHULL

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Demanding the end of all restrictions on television and radio broadcasts of sports events, the federal government Tuesday brought suit against the National Football League, accusing it of violating federal anti-trust laws.

The justice department said it picked the NFL for this test case because it is "the worst in respect to having the greatest restrictions on radio and TV of any major sports activity."

The suit asked the U. S. District court to issue an injunction prohibiting the NFL from restricting television and radio broadcasts of its football games.

H. Graham Morison, assistant attorney general in charge of anti-trust activity, hinted that if the government is successful in its move against the NFL, it will take similar action to set free professional baseball, college football, boxing and other sports.

Bordogna Hurt

John Bordogna, who has been moved from quarterback to halfback on the Cornhusker squad, suffered a bruised right hand during Tuesday's scrimmage.

It is doubtful whether he will be able to pass against Penn State Saturday. Don Norris is expected to see yeoman quarterback duty for the Huskers.

Griess, team physician, says both will be ready for the Nebraska game.

Dick Jones, sophomore speedster, and Earle Mundell, senior sprinter, play behind Shattuck in the left halfback position, but neither can match the big fellow for running power.

Pete Shopa, Penn State's 172-pound sophomore fullback, has impressed Lion followers as a reasonable facsimile of former great, Fran Rogel, Shopa is tough to stop through the line.

NO CHANGES

No lineup changes, are expected for Saturday's duel at Lincoln. Coach Rip Engle has indicated he'll stand by the offensive and defensive teams he used against Boston U. and Villanova.

Shattuck, of course, will get first call at left halfback if he's physically sound while Szajna and Rados will share the quarterback job. Pete Shopa will spell Paul Anders at fullback.

Defensive
COLUMBIA, Mo. — (AP) — The Missouri Tigers played away on defense against Colorado today, losing the second of two games in a series.

Coach Bud Walz laid down a non-scrimmage drill for the rest of the week.

COLUMBIA, Mo. — (AP) — The Missouri Tigers played away on defense against Colorado today, losing the second of two games in a series.

NORMAN, Okla. — (AP) — Coach Bud Wilkinson drilled his University of Oklahoma sluggers hard and long on offense, preparing for a "wide open" game Saturday in the Dallas Cotton Bowl, against the Sooners.

Wilkinson's ability to make only four first downs against Texas A. & M. last week, said all his drills this week will come down to one thing: "open up" the game and indicated his quarterbacks will be sure to see the field.

The Kansas Jayhawkers knocked heads in offensive scrimmage, and Coach J. V. Sikes scheduled another rough one for Wednesday.

Skies scratched his head and frowned at the injury list, which carried names of 11 players, among them that of John Anderson, Grand Island, Neb., fullback, who is out for the season.

Sikes said more heavy practice work will be needed by underdogs who will have to fill the gaps.

AMES, Ia. — (AP) — Two freshmen

"If the shoe fits," Morison told a hastily-gathered news conference, "then we'll see what happens."

'PUBLIC DETRIMENT'

The action followed a five-month investigation by the government into the issue of television and broadcasting of sports events.

Morison said: "We feel that the American people are entitled to have free of monopoly the right to see or hear what they want."

"We have got to remove these restraints which serve only to the detriment of the public."

Television has become big business since the end of World War II and it has brought about significant changes in the sports world.

Some authorities have advocated unlimited television, others none at all. Still others have recommended "restricted" television. Among these must be listed the NFL, the National Collegiate Athletic association, most minor league baseball clubs and fight promoters.

Minor league baseball owners have contended that the telecasts of major league baseball cut deeply into attendance at minor league games.

NFL TO FIGHT

Only Monday, major league club owners repealed a rule which prohibited the broadcasting or televising of a major league game in the territory of a minor league when the minor league club was playing at home.

The NFL has 20 days in which to file an answer to the suit. Commissioner Bert Bell said his league "will fight the suit with all its resources." He gave no inkling, however, of what tack the NFL would take.

Plechaz, Joe Dusek Go To Bloody Draw

Ref Novak Calls Halt To Massacre

By DON STRASHEIM
(Star Sports Staff Member)

And the blood flowed like wine. One of the bloodiest wrestling battles Lincoln has seen for many weeks took place at the fairgrounds Tuesday night between Danny Plechaz and Joe Dusek.

For the first time in his long and notorious career Joe Dusek was the favorite of the paying fans.

He stood toe to toe with Plechaz and returned every punch he absorbed from the Omaha bartender.

Referee Tom Novak had to stop the bout after only nine minutes and ten seconds had elapsed. Neither wrestler could see where he was going and for the sake of saving the sight of one or both of their eyes Novak called the bout a draw and sent the two meanies to the showers.

BATTLE ROYAL

The program started with a battle royal between Jack Pesek, Louie Longo, Mike DiBiase, Jack Conely, Dick Dusek, Danny Plechaz and Joe Dusek.

Longo and Pesek won the rattle royal and met in the main event. Pesek pinned Louie two straight falls to win the bout.

After Dusek and Plechaz battled to a draw Mike DiBiase threw a flying mare and added a body slam to finish Dick Dusek at 17:37. Mike was master all the way.

Jack Pesek and Louie Longo pulled nifty little tricks on each other until Pesek pinned Longo for the second time at 31:08. Smilin' Jack won the first fall at 10:23 with a few body blocks used to set up the weary Longo and then applied a drop kick to the face of Longo before coming in for the kill with a simple body press.

TERRIFIC BEATING

The second fall came after Pesek had absorbed a terrific beating from the Great Lakes champion. The barefoot boy from Lincoln recovered with a right kick to Longo's jaw and then picked Louie up and slammed him to the mat. Longo managed to wiggle away from Pesek so the fair-haired ex-Husker again used a body slam to put Longo on the mat. This time he stayed there.

Joe Kreczi was the second referee in the ring during the rattle royal and also did the officiating for the DiBiase-Dusek bout.

Proposed Roadway May Encroach On P.E. Building Site

Plans for the recently-approved physical education center to be built on school land north of Lincoln high school may be affected by a proposed southeast diagonal highway, the Lincoln school board learned Tuesday.

City Engineer D. L. Erickson informed the board that the highway, if it were to be put through, would cut off a triangular piece of land at or near the site of the proposed phys-ed center.

The affect of the highway plans on the phys-ed center could not be readily determined. Superintendent of schools Steven N. Watkins told a member of The Star's sports staff Tuesday night that a survey of the area is to be made Wednesday. It is likely, he said, that any encroachment on the area proposed for building the phys-ed center would be slight.

Dr. Watkins expressed belief that satisfactory adjustments could be made.

Intramural Expansion Program Is Approved

The Lincoln school board of education Tuesday approved $7,991.60 expansion of intramural and recreational programs for the city's seven junior and senior high schools.

The plan, explained by Ralph Beecher, coordinator of physical education for Lincoln schools, calls for an hour recreational program after school every day, four hours every Saturday morning and 40 hours during the Christmas vacation.

Supervision and instructions will be given by teachers after the regular school day is over. A $900 expenditure is contemplated for supplies. The program includes such activities as swimming, square dancing, volleyball, gymnastics, basketball and ping pong.

BY BOBBY SHANTZ

Writing a sports column is a little out of my line. I'd just as soon be pitching to that Hank Bauer of the Yankees—and I think he's one of the toughest.

Since Norrie has written a lot of nice things about me since I broke into organized baseball with Lincoln in 1948, I guess I can write him a column. I'm not much on adjectives and adverbs, but maybe you can understand me anyway.

Hank is tough because he's an awfully strong batter and does not fool too easy. At least, he's hard to fool for a lefthander.

The Yankees, as a team, are great money players, especially good in the clutch. For that reason, I think the Yankees will win the series.

Just off the record, though (and I hope the Yanks don't hear this) I'm rooting for the Giants. I think the Giants really deserve it for the great way they played ball the last six weeks.

Aside from Bauer, the toughest Yankee for me was Phil Rizzuto. He's hard to pitch to and is such a good bunter you have that to worry about.

About Joe DiMaggio, he's still awfully rough. I hate to face him when there are men on base. He's awfully dangerous and is one of the best curve ball hitters I know of.

Of the new Yankees, Gil McDougald, Mickey Mantle and Bob Cerv are the best.

Mantle is terrifically fast and the fact that he's a switch-hitter makes him doubly dangerous. He's weak on slow stuff, but I think he may remedy that.

McDOUGALD is just a good all-round ball player. He's one of the looziest players I know and he hits about everything. Cerv, as well as being plenty fast, showed good power at the plate—at least against us. He hit three against me that nearly took my head off—they were all right through the box and really tagged.

Yogi Berra does not like left-handers, so that gave me some advantage. He's a good fast-ball hitter, so you have to curve ball him all of the time.

Jimmy Dykes, our manager, should be the manager of the year in the American league. He's all for the players—all the way. He's thinking of us all of the time.

Jimmy treated me great. He gave me more chance for rest than the previous Philadelphia managers. I didn't have any specified time between appearances—Jimmy lets the pitchers decide when they were ready. He made sure all of us pitchers had enough rest.

I was lucky to have good hitting at my back during the later part of the summer. The trade Arthur Ehlers made helped us. One of the men we got, Gus Zernial, helped a lot. He led the league in homers and runs batted in. Then, of course, we had Ferris (Burnhead) Fain, one of the major league's best competitors and the American league batting champion.

Burnhead is a great player and a great fellow.

Eddie Joost, I think we had the best shortstop in the league. You don't realize it, though, until you have him behind you. He makes the hard plays look easy.

Contrary to what you might hear, Ted Williams is a real good guy. He's very friendly to all of us players and has never impressed us as a "one way" guy.

When I was on the All-Star game, I didn't think they would even look at a little guy like me. Williams was the first to shake my hand.

Right now, we're getting ready for a 35-day baseball trip to Honolulu and Japan. I'm going with a bunch of fellows including Joe and Dom DiMaggio, Mel Parnell, Ed Lopat, Ferris Fain and Lefty O'Doul, who will manage us.

We will play 16 games and I hope to return by Thanksgiving. I want to see that Nebraska-Oklahoma game. I'm a real Husker fan.

Although I am a native of Philadelphia, I like Lincoln real well. In fact, I spend my winters here working for the post office. I hope the people of Lincoln continue to back the Lincoln A's. Lincoln is a great town to play in and I think the Philadelphia organization will try to put in a good team here next year.

Charles Favored Over Layne Tonight

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — De-throned Champion Ezzard Charles risks his prestige and his pride as the number one heavyweight contender in a 12-round bout with Rex Lane tonight at Forbes Field.

It was just three months ago that Charles lost the title in the same ring to aging Jersey Joe Walcott via a seventh round knockout. Charles has a contract for a return bout with Walcott, but defeat at the hands of Layne could alter future plans.

DELAY DOESN'T PAY

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — (INS) — It's one minute till midnight for the cinderella team of baseball, the thunderstruck New York Giants. The New York Yankees utterly destroyed them Tuesday, 13-1, now lead three games to two in the World Series, and promise to take their third consecutive championship Wednesday.

In winning his second game of the Series Tuesday, southpaw Eddie Lopat held the dazed Giants to five hits—two of them by Monte Irvin—while Yankee base-runners dug a deep trench around the paths at the expense of five hapless Giants pitchers.

Gil McDougald, fine young rookie infielder, struck the third grand slam home run in Series history in the bruising third inning, an unforgettable sight witnessed only in 1920, when Elmer Smith of the Indians did it against the Dodgers, and in 1936 when Tony Lazzeri of the Yanks did it against the Giants.

Leo Durocher Wednesday will use the pitcher who should have started for the Giants Tuesday, Dave Koslo, winner of the first game of the series. Leo chose, however, to pitch Larry Jansen out of turn, and went for the bankroll.

NEW YORK. — (AP) — The slender, freckle-nosed rookie from San Francisco with the awkward batting stance sat in the glare of exploding flash bulbs, embarrassed by all the attention paid to his "grand slam" home run Tuesday in the fifth World Series game.

"I could tell I got some good wood on it," 22-year-old Gil McDougald said quietly, "but I didn't know it was a home run until it passed second base and saw that Irvin wasn't going back for it."

He didn't know until almost two hours later that his four-run blow, which highlighted the New York Yankees' 13-1 victory over

Graveyard Air About Giants' Dressing Room

By JOE FALLS

NEW YORK — (AP) — This was the Giants dressing room, but it seemed more like a graveyard. It was that quiet.

Each player sat by himself, as if trying to figure out what had happened.

Leo Durocher, the Giants dapper manager, was alone in his office as a string of newspapermen slowly, solemnly filed in.

Before anybody could ask a question, Leo, sipping a coke, head down, said:

"What the hell. We got the heck beat out of us. That's all there is to it."

He was tearing a telegram in small pieces, throwing half on the floor, then tearing the rest.

"It'll be Koslo Wednesday," he said. "Hank Thompson will be back in right field."

Still none of the reporters spoke. What could be said?

The Yankees had bombed five of Leo's pitchers, including ace righthander Larry Jansen, for 12 hits.

TEAM CRUMBLES

Leo saw his team crumble before his eyes in taking the worst World Series whipping in 15 years—an almost unbelievable 13-1 lacing.

Meanwhile, the Giants still sat on their locker stools, Jansen, dressed by now, and appearing calm and cool, answered questions slowly. He then asked some.

"What could I do when McDougald was up?" he asked nobody in particular.

"My control was bad, so when I got behind on him I couldn't afford to throw a curve. I had to come in with a fast ball."

" . . . And he lost it."

Dave Koslo, who will pitch the "must" game for these Cinderella Giants, was in the next room with Sal Maglie, Ed Stanky and the trainer.

Here, too, nobody spoke at first. Finally Stanky, whose spirit carried the Giants when all else failed during the season, said:

"Go get them, Davie boy. They're all yours."

Koslo managed a small grin. He didn't seem at all happy about facing the Yanks again.

"My arm's okay. I'm rested," were his only words.

call on Vic Raschi, loser of the third game. Wednesday's may be Stengel's last day in baseball. His lack of physical health and abundance of financial health, plus a natural inclination to retire undefeated, probably will prod Casey into contented pasture.

Joe DiMaggio, in the evening of his career but as fresh Tuesday as a morning glory, belted out three of the Yankees' 12 hits, including the single that tied the ball game at 1-1 by scoring Gene Woodling. Joe also singled in the fourth and drove in two point-less runs in the seventh with a blazing double past a handcuffed Bobby Thomson on third.

EQUALS RECORD

It was the 50th World Series game graced by the great DiMaggio, equalling the old record of Frankie Frisch. It was a golden anniversary for Giuseppe, for his own resurrection from a ghastly slump is what ignited the Yankee revival that has seen them come in two days from complete doldrums to a fearsomely dominant position.

When he takes the field Wednesday at the Yankee Stadium DiMaggio will stand alone as the man most frequently seen in these autumn endeavors. He will need a sizeable plaque, extolling his achievements, when he moves in spirit to the Hall of Fame.

High among the Yankee stars of the day was the littlest-of-em-

the Giants, was only the third "grand slam" homer hit in World Series play.

DIDN'T CARE

"They told me so when I got back to the dressing room, but, shucks, I didn't care so much about that," commented the modest young father of four children. "I was just glad to give old Lopat that many more runs to work on."

The Yankees showed more post-game animation than anytime during the series Tuesday when they trooped into the dressing room with a bulging 3-2 lead over the Giants.

"I wouldn't make any predictions on the series said Manager Casey Stengel.

He said he would send Vic Raschi to the mound for the Yankees and probably use the same lineup, including John Mize at first base, against the Giants' Dave Koslo, winner of the opening game.

"Mize does pretty good against lefthanders," he said, "and besides this club today hit better than it has in weeks."

PHIL'S LOUDEST

Elsewhere, normally dignified world champions whooped and howled like a bunch of high schoolers on their first out-of-town trip.

They gave the impression of men who felt that today's sixth game at Yankee stadium would be only a formality.

The loudest whoop was delivered by little Phil Rizzuto the Yankees' crack shortstop.

"I told you guys I'd hit a home run," he said. "And I did. I said I'd get up there and bat straight away and put one in the stands."

Rizzuto connected for a homer in the fourth, good for two runs.

Woodling was on at the time. Phil's modest poke hit the lip of the adjacent wall in short right and bounced into a lady's lap without dislodging her purse. Two innings later Phil barely missed another home run into the upper left field stands—and the role of Giants killer stuck. Bluebirds Take Over Lead In State Six-Man Ratings

Cathedral's Cripe Earns 'Star Of Week' Plaudits

BY DON STRASHEIM
(Star Sports Staff Member)

SIX-MAN football star of the week is Eddie Cripe of Lincoln Cathedral. The Bluebird backfield star scored seven touchdowns in a 73-26 romp over previously unbeaten Axtell Thursday night.

Big gun in the eleven man circles was Bill Engelhardt of Omaha North. Engelhardt paced Vikings to an 18-0 win over Creighton Prep. His offensive play was very impressive during the contest.

Most alert player in prep football last week was Monty Edwards of Sidney. The Sidney star intercepted a fumble before it touched the ground and raced 25 yards to a touchdown to give Sidney a 7-0 win over unbeaten Mitchell.

Cripe, Engelhardt and Edwards will receive 'The Star's Football Player of the Week' award along with these prep stars:

MORGAN WELLS, Axtell—Was outstanding on both offense and defense against Cathedral.

WES DREIER, Elwood—Made 181 yards rushing and passing while scoring two touchdowns against Oxford.

HAROLD BECK, Minden—Powerful punter gave his mates a tie with Broken Bow.

BOB THIESFELD, Nebraska City—Was the mark of the Pioneers in their romp past Fairbury.

NWU Running Game Receives Major Attention

Coach Roy Robertson continued to sharpen his Nebraska Wesleyan university offensive Tuesday as the Plainsmen prepped for Saturday's invasion of Hastings college.

Robertson gave his varsity squad a thorough scrimmage session designed to keep the running game moving and strengthen the passing attack.

Robertson told his varsity squad "you'll have to run still harder and tackle still better if you intend to give Hastings the kind of a game you gave Kearney last Saturday."

Reports from the Hastings camp are that the Broncos feature a fancy running game, bolstered by a stout, veteran defensive platoon.

Good news in the Plainsman camp was that Dick Hartnett, Jackson freshman, and Sanford Nelson, Lincoln freshman, both will return to action this week after being inactive since the Wayne tilt.

Hartnett bruised a knee against the Wildcats and Nelson has been hobbled with a sore foot bone.

Robertson said, however, that Bob Mellinger, Lincoln freshman, probably would miss another week of practice and the Hastings game.

"We should be due to win one," Robertson said Tuesday, "and it could just as well be Hastings as anyone else."

Robertson said he will order another scrimmage session for Wednesday and start tapering off Thursday afternoon. The Plainsmen, 37 strong, will make the trip to Hastings by bus Saturday morning.

Michigan State Tops A.P. Poll

NEW YORK—(AP)—Unde-feated Michigan State largely retained its position as the No. 1 football team in the land Wednesday, nipping California's high-scoring Golden Bears by a mere 10 points—or the equivalent of one first-place vote—in the second weekly Associated Press poll of the season.

Middlecoff Wins Kansas City Open

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—(INS)—Cary Middlecoff, Memphis dentist, won the $15,000 Kansas City Open Golf tournament late Tuesday in a 18-hole playoff with Doug Ford of Harrison, N. Y., and Dave Douglas of Newark, Dela.

Middlecoff shot a 68, four under par, Ford and Douglas tied for second place with 72's.

The victory netted the Memphis dentist $2,400 and increased his golf earnings for the year to $24,075. Ford and Douglas won $1,600 each.

The three pros were tied at the end of the 72-hole tourney Monday with scores of 278.

A new board of directors will be elected at a monthly meeting of the Cornhusker Kennel club at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Y.M.C.A.

DICK ANDERSON—He may prove to be a key factor as Bengals face Omaha U. at Crete this Friday.

Doane Mentor Apprehensive

CRETE, Neb. — (Lincoln Star Special)—Doane quarterback Dick Anderson of Fairbury will be in the Tigers' starting eleven Friday night at Crete as Coach Jim Dutcher's gridlers play host to the Omaha Indians.

The passing of Anderson, a 6-2 junior, was a key factor in the Bengals' loss to the 46-7 victory over Chadron two weeks ago. Dutcher's squad was idle last week-end.

Dutcher said Tuesday that he is "hoping for the best, but expecting the worst this Friday." He pointed to the injuries which have kept his two starting quarterbacks, Bobby Provorse and Joe Chapman, out of all three previous games.

SHELTON, Neb. — (AP)—Three Nebraskans widely known for their baseball talents will play with the Shelton Colts against a group of All-Stars in an exhibition game here Monday afternoon.

The pros are Richie Ashburn of Tilden and the Philadelphia Phillies, Johnny Hopp of Hastings and the New York Yankees, and Rex Barney of Omaha, formerly with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Alvo Enters At Sixth As Results Bring About General Shakeup

BY DON STRASHEIM
(Star Sports Staff Member)

COMPLETE revision of the Star's six-man ratings is the order of the day.

Cathedral dumped Axtell 73-26 at Minden Thursday night to take over the top spot. Following the Bluebirds is Chester and St. Edward.

Chester posted Concordia of Seward 26-12 at the fourth annual Stephan Epler day Thursday night to move from the eighth peg to number two.

Coach Tom Cook's St. Edward ball team gave Palmer a 26-14 licking to take over the third spot. Palisade and Big Springs round out the upper division. Palisade blasted Kenesaw 46-0 in their last outing and the Westerners walloped Lewellan 49-0.

Alvo moves into the top ten at the number six position after four straight wins including a 55-6 margin over Bennet.

Axtell fell from the leadership down to the number seven rung of the six-man ladder after their loss to Cathedral.

North Loup is eighth after whipping Spalding Academy 49-6.

Bancroft and St. Pat's of North Platte are also newcomers to the ratings.

Latest victim of Bancroft was Dakota City by a count of 55-6. St. Pat's moves into the charmed circle after winning four straight and gaining a tie with Paxton in their first game. Latest victim of the Platters was Stapleton with a 55-26 margin.

A complete juggling of the six-man ratings is anticipated again next week. There are too many teams in the six-man bracket to give due recognition to all deserving teams.

The Star will attempt to find the best ten by the end of the current season on the strength of team performance reported to The Star.

The Star's Top Ten

SIX-MAN	SIX-MAN
1. Cathedral	6. Alvo
2. Chester	7. Axtell
3. St. Edward	8. North Loup
4. Palisade	9. Bancroft
5. Big Springs	10. St. Pat's of North Platte

Ted Williams To Quit Game If Bosox Sell Him?

(From Press Dispatches)

BOSTON—A Boston newspaperman Tuesday quoted Ted Williams as saying he would quit baseball if traded or sold by the Boston Red Sox.

Boston Herald columnist Bill Cunningham wrote that Williams said he would break with baseball completely and retire to a connection with a manufacturer of fishing tackle if the Red Sox trade or sell him. Said Williams: "I started in Boston and I want to finish in Boston. If I'm traded, or sold, I'll consider that the finish. My other interest is in fishing, as a sport. I consider myself an expert in it, and I have a fine connection waiting in that particular line."

School Addition Delayed For Lack Of Steel

Board May Have To Change Site Of Phys Ed Building

The Lincoln school district board of education Tuesday took a dim view of the auto industry's steel allocation as the board was advised authority could not be given yet to commence construction on the Holmes school auditorium.

In a letter from Rall I. Grigsby, director, division of civilian education requirements in Washington, D.C., Superintendent of Schools Steven N. Watkins was told that "controlled materials made available for the fourth quarter of 1951 were insufficient to permit favorable action on your application."

Grigsby said that the Holmes application would be held until steel allocations were made for the first quarter of 1952. However, information from other sources left little hope for approval during the first quarter of 1952.

Small Amount Left
Quoting figures from the state department of public instruction, Supt. Watkins stated that the first quarter allotment would be 81,000 tons of steel for educational purposes. Sixty thousand tons, he said, are already taken up with a backlog of applications made in 1951.

A mere 21,000 tons of steel would then be left for all education construction in the country during the first quarter of 1952.

Supt. Watkins pointed out that for the fourth quarter of 1951 15 per cent of the nation's total steel allocation went to the auto industry. One hundred thousand tons, or one-half of one per cent, he said, was allotted to construction for educational purposes.

Phys. Ed. Site Studied
Other district building plans also took a beating Tuesday. Supt. Watkins read a letter from City Engineer D. L. Erickson in which the board was advised that the proposed southeast diagonal highway for Lincoln would cut off a triangular piece of school land on the north side of J between Twenty-second and Twenty-fourth.

The area had been planned by the board as the site for a new physical education building for Lincoln high school. "We shall appreciate an opportunity," wrote Erickson, "of discussing the proposed."

Voluntary Plan Vaccinations Drop To 610

The Lincoln board of education was told Tuesday that diphtheria and smallpox vaccinations in the schools have dropped from 2,595 in 1949-50 when the school system sponsored the vaccinations to 610 in 1950-51 when the vaccinations were put on a voluntary basis.

In his report, Superintendent of Schools Steven N. Watkins showed that 1,147 pupils were vaccinated for diphtheria in 1949 and '50 while there were only 333 in 1950 and '51. For smallpox the figures were 1,448 and 277.

A total of 343 pre-school children were vaccinated in 1949 and '50 and none in 1950 and '51.

Instruments Insured
The board also insured musical instruments in the Lincoln school district in the amount of $5,755. Children using their own musical instruments can have them insured for $1 per $100 valuation.

The junior chamber of commerce was given permission by the board to rent the Lincoln high school oval Oct. 28 for a midweek football game between the regional championship contenders. Game proceeds will go to the Lincoln orphanages and the orthopedic hospital.

The board also gave its approval to Watkins attendance at a national education convention in Chicago Oct. 20 and 21.

Vesper Series
Also approved by the board was the schedule for the 1951-'52 Vesper series. Five programs will be presented at Lincoln high and two at Northeast. This will be the 30th season and will start with the 161st concert Nov. 4 at Lincoln High.

The following elections were approved:

Miss Sara C. Larson, half-time acting teacher, homebound school.
Mrs. Miriam H. Stewart, teacher, homebound school.
Mrs. Marilyn Mercer, teacher, homebound school.

SHOWS OVERLOADED WIRE DANGER—Fire prevention speaker Joe Fellers showed Everett Junior High school pupils the danger of using a coin for a light system fuse. The bare light wire on this board glowed cherry red in a few short minutes after he put a penny in the fuse socket. This demonstration is being shown to all Lincoln high school and junior high schools during fire prevention week. (Star Photo.)

PIN-WORMS MAY BE A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often tell-tale signs of Pin-Worms... ugly parasites that medical experts say infect one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge... the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

Students View Fire Dangers

Lincoln's junior high school students are witnessing demonstrations in fire prevention and dangers of faulty electrical wiring this week presented by members of the fire department and safety officials.

The program is a part of city-wide fire prevention week.

Tuesday, Joseph Fellers, assistant supervisor of the state board of vocational education, showed Everett school students possible consequences of washing clothes in gasoline.

Fellers also warned against electric wires with poor insulation and the disastrous practice of using a penny to substitute for a fuse.

His exhibition of flaming magic kept the youngsters on the edge of their chairs.

Demonstrations were also given at Whittier and College View.

Other speakers at Elliot were Lloyd C. Jenkins, public school safety consulting engineer, Principal Edwin Wahl, City Fire Inspector E. L. McCurdy and Ray Ramsey, city personnel director.

Church Must Utilize Peace Desire—Court

Dr. Frank A. Court, pastor of St. Paul Methodist church, told the Lincoln Ministerial association meeting at the Y.M.C.A. that "There is a heart hunger for peace in all of the world today that the church must capitalize on and use in building bridges of understanding and good will."

Using impressions he gained visiting eleven European countries the past summer, Dr. Court discussed "The Church's Offense for Peace."

He outlined six offensive moves for lasting peace:

1. "The church must be engaged in creating the attitude that peace is possible."
2. "Strengthening of the World Council of Churches and its movement for goodwill and understanding."
3. "Strengthening of the United Nations."
4. "An attempt to see that the Marshall Plan aid must not be used from a selfish motive."
5. "Work for a new day and a new kingdom. There is no return to any old balance of power."
6. "Pray, work and sacrifice for a truly spiritual awakening in the hearts of people which would be the safest and surest peace offensive."

In outlining his second offensive, Dr. Court said, "One out of every ten Lutherans in the world today is in a displaced person's camp."

"But in the face of suffering, world need, denominational differences must be forgotten as we work together to try to solve problems in a humane, Christ-like way," he added.

Mayor Praises Private 'Low Cost' Housing

Mayor Victor E. Anderson paid high praise to low rental housing plans submitted to the council from John and George Unthank, architects, for construction by Strauss Bros. construction company.

According to Anderson, the drawings call for duplexes and fourplexes to be built at a cost of $5,000 per unit. Strauss Bros. said Anderson, are planning to build some of the units to rent for $50 a month.

The structures would be two-story frame and brick. Two bedrooms would be upstairs with living room, kitchen, dinette and bath down.

The mayor said he has asked the architects to submit the drawings to the City Housing authority. While the authority has its own plans, Anderson said he felt the group would like to see the drawings.

"All I'm interested in," said Anderson, "is getting the most house for the money. These $5,000 units are certainly nice and the price is very good."

R. E. Campbell, authority chairman, had little comment to make on the development. "We have our plans now for 250 units," he said, "and have not given up on building them. We're all ready except for the necessary equity capital."

According to Campbell, capital would be provided when and if the military takes over Huskerville under reactivation of the air base. Payments from the dwellings at Huskerville would be used to build new units.

Campbell indicated, however, that his group would have a hard time meeting the $5,000 per unit figure. His group's calls for single family row type housing.

According to Mrs. Massa, her son has three great-uncles who fought in the Civil war, two great-uncles who served in the Spanish-American war, two great-uncles in World War I, and two great-uncles who served in World War II.

All of the service men held enlisted ranks except one captain in the Civil war and one in World War I.

Richard has served in the army about 18 months. He and a cousin, with the army in Alaska, are the only members of the family now serving their country.

TB Group Plans Lancaster County Periodic Skin Tests

The Lancaster County Tuberculosis association will undertake a periodic tuberculin skin test of a selected age group in the county as a feature of its disease control program, Dr. E. A. Rogers said Monday.

Dr. Rogers, who spoke for the medical advisory committee of the association, at a meeting of the board of directors at the Y.W.C.A., said the tests will "provide an index of the declining rate of tuberculosis infection in Lancaster county."

Tuberculosis skin tests show whether or not a person has ever been infected with the disease. The board of directors voted to set aside $500 of a bequest by the Charles Ammon estate to start the skin test project.

Mrs. Dorothy Ogden, executive secretary, reported that a survey to determine the number of displaced persons in the county is underway. The association plans to promote, in co-operation with re-settlement groups, a program of periodic chest X-ray checkups in this group in which the number of tuberculosis infections is higher than in the general population, she said.

Mrs. Ogden explained that such a project would help protect both the displaced persons and the community from infection since tuberculosis found early is less apt to be infectious and is easier and quicker to cure.

Iran Awaits British Gesture Of 'Good Will'

U. S. Official Has Talk With Mossadegh

BY PIERRE J. HUSS

FLUSHING MEADOW, N. Y.—(INS)—U.S. Assistant Secretary of State George McGhee held a secret conference with Premier Mohammed Mossadegh Tuesday and flew immediately to Washington for a personal report to Secretary of State Acheson.

McGhee is believed to have Mossadegh's assurances that with an ounce of "good will" by Britain, the Anglo-Iranian oil dispute can be settled amicably in direct negotiations without U.N. security council intervention.

The conference between McGhee and Mossadegh took place simultaneously with an important discussion held behind closed doors between U.S. Deputy Representative Ernest A. Gross and Sir Gladwyn Jebb of Britain.

Condemnation Dropped

It was learned from reliable authorities that Jebb, after consultation with the British government, agreed to drop his condemnation of Iran for its nationalization policy on oil.

These developments were disclosed after Mossadegh requested a 48-hour postponement of the security council meeting now scheduled for Thursday.

Jaco Carlos Muniz, chairman of the 11-nation council, indicated that the request would be agreed to.

here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle devised to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan

Some are almost as much alarmed at the possibility that a southern democrat might reach the White House as if it were a northern republican.

might be sitting in the White House as president of you-all today.

Not that James was alone... so many candidates were put in nomination they had to march 'em into Convention hall in platoons.

The democrats picked the only man nobody seemed to have anything on, true or false, for vice president in 1940 and it cannot be said that he hasn't returned the compliment.

The Washington record shows that he hasn't had anything on a democrat since.

But I'm not counting Byrnes, Byrd, et cetera.

Heavy Slate Is Scheduled For Band Day

A jam-packed schedule lies ahead for the 3,400 Nebraska high school band members who will take part in the annual University Band day Saturday.

The young musicians will put in a full eight hours before they are through.

Following registration from 8 to 9 a.m. the 63 bands will combine to rehearse the special show which the massed organization will present with the university band at half-time of the Cornhusker-Penn State football game.

And at 11 a.m. the bands will begin the traditional parade through downtown Lincoln. Following this members will eat a snack lunch furnished by the Lincoln chamber of commerce.

At 1:15 p.m. the bands will reform and enter the stadium for the game.

The half-time show will be conducted by Donald Lentz, director of the university bands. The huge band will cover the entire football field and play "The Star Spangled Banner" and a march before moving into a giant "N" to perform "Billboard" march and "Dear Old Nebraska U."
